The GEECCO project holds its first annual meeting

The H2020 European project Gender Equality in Engineering through Communication and Commitment (GEECCO), carried out by nine European partners, has completed its first year. Following the work plan, all GEECCO partners attended to the first annual meeting in Krakow, held on 23rd and 24th April 2018 and organised by Politechnika Krakowska.

Partners and external experts, participants in the workshop

During these two days, each partner institution presented the progress status of each work package and there was also time to share questions and discussion.

The agenda also included an interesting internal workshop dedicated to improving cooperation between funding organizations and research funding organizations that are part of the project. Likewise, some gender-in-science experts were invited and all participants could know first-hand their opinions and advice on various issues related to gender equality, within the framework of the project.

The meeting ended with the Executive Board Meeting where relevant issues could be brought together to ensure that the progression of the project continues satisfactorily.
